Empowering

Elder

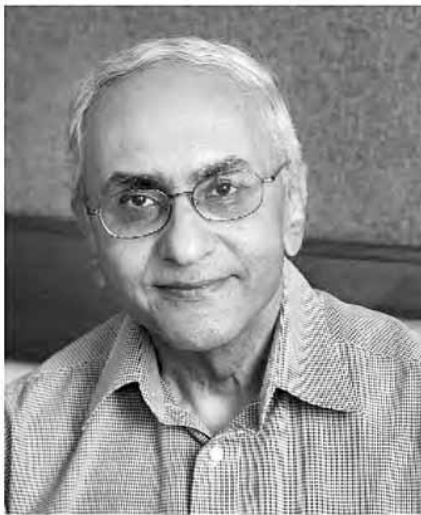

Lives

MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIRMAN

Empowering elders through health, income and Rights

Our hundred million seniors do not seek mere sympathy. They seek opportunities to lead meaningful, purposeful lives as proud citizens. We at HelpAge India salute their resolve and through our programs and activities work towards enabling our seniors to live their lives with dignity.

Age related ailments rob seniors of their ability to continue working. This sets in motion a vicious cycle: ill health followed by little or no income, inability to afford restorative treatment, imminent poverty and ultimate destitution. HelpAge India works to stop this cycle at its root. The first step lies in empowering seniors with good health. HelpAge runs a vigorous pan India mobile healthcare service that brings healthcare to millions of our underprivileged seniors. The health service reaches deep into the countryside with a regular, dependable and inexpensive outreach. Enabling this outreach is the unstinted support of our generous corporate donors who fund the Mobile Healthcare Units and their operating costs. HelpAge India thanks each one of them for their consistent support in enabling a mammoth mission to run successfully through the years.

The second step begins with enabling seniors to engage in income generation activities through the formation of their own Elder-Self-Help-Groups. This initiative is paving the way for a radical transformation in the way elders are treated and perceived, especially in rural areas. Far from being neglected and left to their own devices to survive, seniors are now being acknowledged for their ability to generate income not only for themselves but also for their extended families. From fishing cooperatives in Bihar to carpet weaving in Uttarakhand, seniors are laying the foundations of a self reliant and progressive life for themselves. HelpAge extends comprehensive assistance for their sustainable success, from helping with the initial credit lines to providing training and assistance in setting up processes.

The third step involves assisting seniors to acquire what is rightfully theirs but often eludes them: their Rights and Entitlements. Sadly, most are even unaware of these or the means to access them. HelpAge India organizes mass contact sessions where it spreads awareness of these and familiarizes seniors with the process of availing them. Government programs for free healthcare and old age pensions when accessed can and do make meaningful differences in senior lives and HelpAge India devotes a major part of its Advocacy work liaising with governments, media and other NGOs towards achieving universal coverage of these so that a generation which strived lifelong can claim the right to live a life of dignity, which is rightfully theirs.

MESSAGE FROM THE CEO

Why the elderly deserve more, not less

If we are to call ourselves a caring society, we will need to do more, lot more for our senior citizens. It is shocking that more than half of our senior citizen population live below the poverty line (as estimated in 2014). Most of these have families but have no care, no health cover, no income and no access to even those Rights and Entitlements that are earmarked for them.

There are many disadvantaged groups that call out for society's attention and largess. Amongst these, the elder cause gets easily passed over for attention because it lacks the power to raise its voice to draw attention. This is particularly true of the underprivileged section of the elderly. HelpAge India has been working at righting this wrong. Yet, however intense its interventions, it is often faced with inadequate resources to meet the needs of the millions that wait.

Our senior citizens need society to step forward and open their hearts and purses to come to their aid in much larger numbers if our elders are to receive their due for having nurtured the present generation. HelpAge India has been fortunate to receive support from the public and the corporate world. However, this is not proving to be enough. India's elderly cry out for more and better healthcare and the universal health insurance that can make that care affordable. They need easily available funding for their cooperatives and Self-Help-Groups so that they have the income to take care of themselves and not remain dependent on their families. The old age pension that is currently available is inadequate to meet today's cost of living, however frugal. In a country where 90% of the workforce is employed by the non-formal sector that offers no pension for retirees, the government must ensure that pension is not restricted to only those below the poverty line but be made universally available and in adequate sum for all senior citizens. India spends only 0.032% of GDP towards pensions and covers only 25% of the eligible elder population. This pathetic picture has to change for the better.

Only with all these measures can the senior citizen of India hope to see a day when 51 million of them will not have to go to bed hungry because they cannot afford a meal. This will be possible with an universal pension for all senior citizens.

Everyone at HelpAge India has worked tirelessly and in difficult circumstances to ensure for our seniors a life of dignity. I thank them all. I am grateful to all our donors, public and Institutions for the support that has enabled us to sustain our work through 38 years. We look forward to their continued and larger support in the years to come.

Thank you.

STORIES FROM THE FIELD

Focus Vidarbha: Vidarbha is the eastern region of Maharashtra state. A region plagued with excessive famine and farmer suicides. There have been more than 2 lakh farmer suicides in Maharashtra in the last decade and more than 70% are from Vidarbha alone. This is mainly due to infertility of the land, lack of ample amount of water resources and unpredictability of weather, resulting in heavy losses to the farmer community. Many debt-stricken farmers commit suicide, as there seems no way out.

In these circumstances with scarce resources and no other source of livelihood, basic medical care is something far out of reach for the farmer to afford. The elderly debt-ridden farmer is the worst affected. It is for this elder community that HelpAge provides basic healthcare at their doorsteps through its Mobi-health program and Livelihood opportunities through the formation of Elder-Self-Help-Groups for which HelpAge provides training and seed money. Here are some heart-warming stories from the field, of grit, determination and survival.

MOBI-HEALTH: Bringing Healthcare Home

The HelpAge MHU doctor visits 81 year old Namdev at his home in Shembal village, Chandrapur dist. Vidarbha, for his weekly check-up.

For 81 year old NAMDEV, HelpAge's Mobile Healthcare Unit (MHU) was a life saver. Unable to walk without aid and with both eyes affected by cataract, reaching the local hospital was out of the question. Adding to his woes was the unaffordability of proper medical treatment. No form of livelihood or pension made him totally dependent on his family.

Now a patient of the MHU which daily comes to his village Shembal, in Warora Taluka, Chandrapur district, Namdev has found a new lease of life. He comes regularly to the MHU for treatment of his eczema, high blood pressure and joint pains. On days that he is unable to walk to the MHU, the MHU doctor visits his home. The consistent treatment has improved his condition considerably.

For Namdev the increase in his mobility has given him a renewed feeling of independence and self-sufficiency. He is now no longer dependent on his family for his medical needs and being a regular beneficiary he has also made some new friends at the MHU site.

Shantabai, 76 yrs, of Karanji village, gets her blood pressure checked by the MHU doctor.

76 year old SHANTA BAI of Karanji village, Warora Taluka, suffers from Hypertension, Osteoarthritis and is totally dependent on her sons for her survival. She doesn't want to ask her children to spend on her medication as they have to look after their own families.

"I have no money to call my own, I applied for pension but to no avail, I stay with my youngest son, but he has his own family to take care of. My joints ache, my head reels, I can no longer work in the fields or even cook at home. When I can't even afford to buy my own food, how can I afford medicines?" says a distraught Shanta Bai.

With no hope in the horizon to alleviate her pain HelpAge's Mobile Healthcare Unit came as blessing in disguise. Through the MHU she gets free medicines and treatment for her blood pressure which is now under control along with her Osteoarthritis. A smiling Shanta Bai walks to the fields today with her son's lunch and often stays back to help with picking cotton, which is a major source of livelihood for the farmers of Vidarbha.

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

There are many elders especially in rural India who cannot access even basic healthcare due to immobility and unaffordability. The closest health centre are often far away from their hamlets making it virtually impossible for them to avail its utility. Destitute elders, especially those over the age of 80, are the worst affected.

HelpAge's nationwide mobile healthcare program provides regular and free healthcare to these elders through its Mobile Healthcare Units (MHUs). Equipped with a specialized team of a doctor, pharmacist, patient facilitator and accompanied by a trained social worker, these MHUs provide primary healthcare to the needy.

HelpAge India operates Asia's largest Mobile healthcare network for elders, with 120 Mobile Healthcare Units providing 1.76 million free treatments to disadvantaged elderly and their communities across India.

LIVELIHOOD PROGRAM: Sustainability & Independence

Elder members of Pragati Jesht Nagrik Sangh measure the quantum of grain collected before filling in the Grain Bank Box at Shibala village in Zari Block, Yavatmal District.

In Shibala village of Zari Block in Yavatmal District, a box of tin holds the promise of a better life for the village elders. This single box holds within it what the locals call 'Dev Dhan' or offerings meant for God, which are fistfuls of local food grains whether rice, tur dal or jowar. It is these offerings that the members of 'Pragati Jesht Nagrik Sangh' a group of elders comprising of representatives from 5 Elder-Self-Help-Groups of the village, use to help those elders who are destitute and have no one to look after them.

'Dev Dhan' can be donated by anyone in the village out of one's own free will, but it is the members of this elder Sangh who along with their independent Self-Help-Group members, identify those elders who need it the most and take on the responsibility to look after their basic needs. To turn this simple initiative into a more lucrative and self-sustaining business, part of the grain is sold in wholesale markets (Rs.200 per kg for tur dal, Rs.42 per kg for rice etc.) and the money gained goes into the individual group accounts of the 5 Elder-Self-Help-Groups, where it is used for inter-loaning purposes, helping a villager in need, which is later paid back with interest.

It is incredible what a fistful of grain can do to help an elder in need, tradition merged with a fine sense of business acumen, has turned around the life of many an elder in this tiny village in Maharashtra.

Gautikabai Mahadev Saha, 70 years, of Hiwara village, busy at the sewing machine making sarees.

Located in the interiors of Vidarbha's Yavatmal district, 12 enterprising elderly women of Hiwara village came together to start a small enterprise of their own – 'Geetanjali Mahila Bachat Gat', an Elder-Self-Help-Group. In a region where farming is only seasonal, these elder women many of whom are cotton-pickers, decided to find a more sustainable option for survival. They put their skills to use by setting up a Sari shop in the village from the seed money that HelpAge India gave them and purchased a sewing machine. The Sari costs vary from Rs.230 to 570 a piece and the group makes a sale of Rs.7000 per month, which they manage through an account they have opened in the Central Bank of India in Pandharkawada.

"Joining the group has created a positive atmosphere overall. In my own case, my step sons earlier use to shout at me, but since I have started earning they have become more respectful," says 70 year old Gautikabai Mahadev Saha, member of the group.

It is not just the money that has made a positive difference in the lives of these elderly women, but it has also made them self-sufficient, independent and given them a renewed sense of confidence.

About the Program

Sustainability is the key to a dignified life. Most elders especially in rural India, often stop working in their later years due to various physical constraints. Despite this, they are still mentally agile and want to remain independent and productive during their later years. It is for these elders that HelpAge provides a viable and sustainable solution through the formation of Elder-Self-Help-Groups, by federating them at local and district levels and providing them the initial seed money to start an activity of their choice. As the funds start coming in, a bank account is opened and they pool in their resources, which are circulated and used by the group members in times of need. This program goes a long way in improving the lives of elders, keeping them active, independent and productive so they can life with dignity.

IN TIMES OF EMERGENCY

HELPAge HELPLINES: Coming to the Rescue

It is a common sight in the apathetic cities of India to find destitute and abandoned elderly on the streets, vulnerable to abuse, starvation and at the mercy of extreme weather conditions. Often good Samaritans come to their rescue and call the HelpAge Elder Helplines running across 21 state capitals of India. These Helplines offer assistance to elders in need of shelter, emergency care and protection. They also provide counseling to elders in distress, offer legal support, and also provide information related to government support schemes. The Helpline works as a co-ordination unit linking elders to old age homes, hospitals, police, government and other non-government organizations. Here are two heart-warming stories from the streets of Chennai & Kolkata.

CHENNAI: Reuniting with family

In June 2015, HelpAge India's Chennai Helpline 1253 received a call from good Samaritan, Mr. Krishnan, who spotted 82 year old Dhanabakyam on the street, in a decrepit state, surrounded by stray dogs and swarming mosquitoes. On receiving the call, the HelpAge Elder Helpline rescue team rushed to the spot and picked her up. But Dhanabakyam had not only lost her way into Chennai, but also part of her memory. The team put her under the secure care of Little Drops Old Age Home, in Porur, a shelter for deprived and deserted people. With the help of the home's caretaker Ms. Mary, she soon started to adapt to her new environment. Her memory would come in pieces, and she knew she had a family somewhere. She was optimistic that one day her relatives would find her. Back home, her entire family was frantically searching for her, 5 months had passed, but they had still not given up.

On 6th December, when Chennai was reeling under the aftermath of the floods, the whole world was glued to their television sets. Popular channel Sun News TV, aired the plight and distress of residents of Little Drop's Old Age Home in the midst of the disaster. It seemed that fate was on her side, for Dhanabakyam's family spotted her in the news footage and immediately set out to find her. On 9th December Dhanabakyam perseverance bore fruit and she found her family at the doorsteps of Little Drop's. After a tearful reunion, today Dhanabakyam has returned to her hometown and is surrounded by the security of her loved ones around her.

KOLKATA: A helping hand

75 year old Kamala Koley, has been staying under the Kona Expressway Bridge in Kolkata for the last 3 years. Her home is marked by make-shift boundary walls on three sides she had made using bricks and plastic bags, to protect herself and her belongings. Her husband Sudarshan Koley used to work as a daily wage laborer and they used to stay in a rented house. After his demise, Kamala was forced to move out of her rented accommodation and live on the streets. Due to old age and sickness, Kamala is now unable to work and depends on passerbys and people who are living nearby for basic sustenance.

A good Samaritan, young Soumya Bhattacharya spotted Kamala one day and called the HelpAge Helpline. Helpline counsellor Ms. Swarnali Misra rushed to the spot and arranged for immediate medical attention for Kamala, along with providing her much needed clothing. She then informed and requested the ward councilor Mr. Santanu Banerjee to provide a BPL card & old age pension to Kamala, so she could live a life of dignity and independence.

DISASTER RELIEF: When needed, where needed

Tamil Nadu Floods

The HelpAge MHU team providing immediate relief to flood affected people in Chennai.

November 2015 saw disaster strike Tamil Nadu with many areas flooded and submerged. Innumerable people were stranded inside their own homes with no food, medical care, electricity or clean drinking water. Many homes were submerged completely. Life in southern India had come to a virtual standstill. HelpAge India's disaster management team immediately got to work, providing relief to the people of Tamil Nadu & Puducherry.

HelpAge rushed six of its Mobile Healthcare Units in 24 of the worst affected areas in Chennai, Kancheepuram & Tiruvallur districts, providing urgent medical relief to victims. In Chennai alone, more than 7600 medical treatments were meted out. 7000 bottles of clean drinking water, nearly 10,000 food packets and 3000 blankets were distributed. In Puducherry and Cuddalore, 25 medical camps were held in 44 villages and 5000 of those affected, received emergency treatment, along with 2555 bottles of clean drinking water. Nearly 12,000 families received dry ration and other basic essential items and 4927 blankets were distributed.

Nepal Earthquake

On the 25th of April 2015, Nepal was shaken by a massive earthquake, 7.8 on the Richter scale, leaving in its wake unprecedented disaster. 39 of the 75 districts were severely affected, with the death toll reaching more than 8000 and with over 20,000 being injured. More than 5 lakh buildings were completely destroyed, leaving behind thousands who had nowhere to go with no roof over their heads and having lost their entire life savings.

Nepal's elderly constitute 8.13% of the total population, 2.4 million people are above 60 years of age. The old and infirm are the worst affected in disasters, as many are unable to run fast enough to access relief trucks and are unable to carry the load of relief material.

There was an urgent need for food, water, temporary shelters and medicine, but most had no money left to support this need. HelpAge India along with HelpAge international immediately got into action and through local partners became the first organizations to execute immediate cash transfers of 75 USD per family to 10,000+ needy families with elders, in 11 districts across the country, to tide over the immediate need.

YEAR HIGHLIGHTS – 2015-16

EMPOWERING ELDERLY THROUGH DIGITAL LITERACY

A HelpAge staffer uses the HelpAge hand-book to familiarize a senior citizen with his smart phone.

grandchildren live in California. They never write letters. But my 7 year old granddaughter wants me to Skype with her on her birthday, but I just didn't know how. The girl next door who incidentally works for HelpAge India taught me how to use her small computer which she carries everywhere with her. Suddenly my world changed, I could see my granddaughter as she gave me a virtual tour of their home in California. What more could I have asked for."

An easy-to-understand instruction hand-book was developed in-house – "Making Smartphone and Computer learning fun and easy". To begin with, it was decided that the elders of the 1000 plus Senior Citizens Associations who HelpAge works with, will be reached out to and taught the basics.

HelpAge with the help of 100 plus volunteers and young interns took 2-day training sessions across 15 cities in India using this little hand-book. Young volunteers across the country trained the elderly on the basics of Google Maps, Whatsapp, paying utility bills online, booking a cab if stranded etc.

Empowering Elders with Digital literacy: that was the objective of HelpAge India's Literacy Mission through the year. In today's digital world, older people often tend to 'lose out', as they are unable to keep up with changing technology. Studies show that there is a decreasing likelihood of learning new techniques, especially in the digital space with increasing age. Those above 75 years of age are five times more likely not to be using the internet than individuals aged 55 to 64.

Helping elders become digitally literate is important in enabling them to access facilities of on-line banking and giving them an independent control over their personal finances. Similarly, payment of property taxes and other government dues, as well as buying medical insurance etc. all become possible while being at home.

As part of advocacy outreach, the communications team reached out to elder groups regularly. On one such meeting a random conversation with a 75 year old grandmother was an eye-opener. "My son and HelpAge volunteers teach navigation on Google Maps to elders at a Senior Citizens Association gathering in New Delhi.

One outstanding impact we saw post the creation of the smartphone and computer training hand-book was that several small local computer coaching institutes reached out to HelpAge India seeking permission to use the hand-book to give free classes to elders. Several hundred young techies from software companies have started using the hand-book to teach elders in their neighborhoods. Says Raman, a young volunteer from an engineering college in Delhi, "The hand-book with it's easy step-by-step processes and icons shown against each step, gives confidence to the elders to revisit their lessons post the training sessions."

It is so very gratifying for volunteers when their elder "students" thank them, as was the case of Mrs. Neeta Chatterjee, 82 years from Chittranjan Park, New Delhi.

"When I asked my daughter to teach me how to use my new smart-phone, I could not understand her rapid fire instructions. But when the HelpAge volunteer came with the technology hand-book, she explained it slowly step by step and I suddenly started enjoying the process of learning new technology. Facebook, Google and Skype were no longer frightening strangers, but became my friends. Today, I talk to my grandson in San Francisco, pay my Airtel mobile bill online, and can you imagine, I even bought a microwave on Amazon.com!" says Neeta. She goes on to add, "My mornings are no longer lonely. After breakfast, I log on to my Facebook account and chat with six of my college mates - Batch of '62."

With this experiment, HelpAge India is more than ever committed to include digital inclusion as one of the empowering pillars of Active Ageing.
