From the President's DESK

The operations of HelpAge India (HI) during 2011-12 are comprehensively covered by the report of the Governing Body and Audited Accounts. In addition, I am pleased to take the opportunity of addressing the HI Community - the donors, the Government, the employees and everyone who has helped or even thought of helping.

In the 34 years of HI's existence, the enormous changes all around us are reflected in the needs of the beneficiaries of HI's work and thus in the nature of the work itself. India is a young country with the average age of its population at 35 or less.

At the other end of the spectrum, the elderly are lonelier, isolated, neglected, actively discriminated against or "merely" forgotten or ignored. And the numbers are huge – 100 million soon. More than ever, they long for a life with care, company, dignity, independence and respect. To counter these influences and their obviously harmful consequences, HI has successfully commenced initiatives which over a period, change attitudes. SAVE, a programme with schools, aims to sensitize children both to the need to help the needy elderly and the many benefits of mixing freely with them to gain the immense advantage from their company, wisdom, knowledge, care, warmth and love.

To encourage older people to help themselves, HI has successfully started Elders Self-Help-Groups in a number of States. This programme demonstrates such apparent benefits that several States have expressed appreciation and provided support. Efforts continue in order to create awareness among the elderly to learn about and claim their rightful dues under Government programmes. In addition to the new initiatives to bring about long term changes in attitudes towards the elderly, HI continues with its well known "normal" activities of providing mobile medical care, supporting cataract operations, disbursing financial help, running physiotherapy centers and a few homes for the elderly. The Government of India recognizes and supports HI's work and considers it as a partner in alleviating the life of elders in their evening years.

The environment for charitable organizations, particularly those well organized and run such as HI, is an increasingly difficult one. Donations from international agencies are virtually at a standstill, domestically there are some signs of donor fatigue and regrettably increasing cynicism and indifference, while the economic situation is not exactly conducive. These aspects need to be addressed in new ways and in a sense, all of us at HelpAge India have to become fundraisers. The tax regime is unfortunately directed to charities of a different character but we make continuing efforts to demonstrate the need for relief for good, honest work.

My thanks and deep appreciation to the donors, the Government and many other friends of HI and particularly its devoted, loyal and untiring staff and management. The Governing Body has provided ever helpful and positive support, for which I am grateful. I look forward with confidence to continuing our work to bring a smile to the faces of our elderly citizens.

The Man behind the Mission

Mr. Mathew Cherian, Chief Executive, HelpAge India, is given a traditional welcome by 60 plus Thangam Ranganayagi, an elderly resident at the Tamaraikulam Elders Village in Cuddalore, Tamil Nadu (TN).

CEO at the age 30, Mathew Cherian is a man who believes he will never retire from social work. He plays the guitar, loves reading, a first look at this unassuming man, doesn't strike you as a passionate & demanding CEO of an organization. But look closer and there is much to discover, learn and most of all imbibe.

With tremendous patience, drive and a passion to help those disadvantaged in society, Mathew Cherian is the force behind HelpAge India.

"Everyday as I go to work, I see so many elderly begging at the traffic lights, sleeping on pavements with tattered clothing, but the worst of all is the look in their eyes, one of 'dying hope' and it drives me to work harder. Whether one accepts it or not, we all are going to get old one day," says Cherian.

A BITS Pilani (Rajasthan), product with a B.E. (Honours) degree in Civil Engineering, Mathew was well qualified for a cushioned corporate career. He was only 22, when suddenly one day reality of a different kind hit him and changed his life path forever.

"I was working for an American oil drilling company in Mumbai, close to Nariman Point. It was a routine job which paid well. One day as I got out of work, I saw a bunch of street kids shuffling through the garbage, and eating whatever leftover food they could find. I gave them some money at the time, but as I went home I couldn't get that image out of my head, here I was having a fancy lunch each day at work and right outside my office they were these kids looking for food at a garbage dump. This set me thinking."

It isn't often one gets the chance to have a heart-to-heart chat with the CEO of one's organization. A man on whose shoulders lies the tremendous responsibility of helping the disadvantaged elders of the country, keeping transparency of the organization in mind, keeping up the consistent efforts to sustain the good work and be honest and accountable to all its donors. It was a little difficult to get him to sit down and talk about himself. But I had been working with him for the past 8 years and was curious and determined. Finally I convinced him that it would help me and others understand what drives him to come to work everyday. Maybe there was some learning in there for all of us.

So he with his close friend late Sanjoy Ghose, decided to visit the more poverty stricken tribal villages on the outskirts of Mumbai.

"For me the place was a revelation, I had seen villages in Kerala but had never witnessed such abject poverty and backwardness. The village had no healthcare, no education. People were living in complete filth and dirt," says Cherian.

He went on do some more volunteering with other social workers like Baba Amte, working in rural areas. Then IRMA, Institute of Rural Management Anand (Gujarat) came into being offering a PG Diploma course, and he and Sanjoy went on to become a part of its first batch of students.

His journey then took him to Nagpur in 1987 to head the Oxfam branch there, to look after their Maharashtra leg of work, after which he was transferred to Delhi, and then went on to work for Plan International as their South Asia Representative from 1995 to 1998. Later, he set up CAF (Charities Aid Foundation) in India, primarily to fundraise for local NGOs.

It was obvious that a person like him would choose a like minded partner for life, and so he met Amita Joseph, an equally strong willed, sensitive and driven woman who too wanted to help the less fortunate. He was at that time heading Oxfam, as its Country Head in 1991 and Amita was also working in the same organization.

"Amita and I are each others strength. We believe in the same things and want to help those who can't help themselves," says Cherian.

A father of two beautiful daughters, it's obvious he is the more indulgent parent of the two.

"I'm a morning person, I get up at about 5 am do my Yoga and exercise, and by 6 am I am ready to cook breakfast for my daughters. From Dosas to French fries, their wish is my command," he adds with a fond smile. "I then drop them off to school and then head to work."

In 2002, Mathew joined HelpAge India heading the Programme department, his knowledge and experience from the field brought a fresh breath into HelpAge's scope of work. But it was for a short while, as he soon left. But it wasn't for long, for in 2004, HelpAge wanted him back and this time at the helm of things and so he joined as Chief Executive, HelpAge India.

There has been no looking back since then for Cherian. It's been 8 years and he feels there is still more to do, more to give.

"I understand the needs of elders, both children and elder needs have a lot in common. I have a deep sense of responsibility, I love what I do and I don't think of it as work at all. I've learnt a lot at HelpAge. I've also understood retirement in its fullest sense. Most people in India think of retirement as the time when they stop working after 60. But technically keeping oneself active even after one stops working, means one has not retired. Mr. Sabharwal (90 plus) our President Emeritus, is one such person who epitomizes Active Ageing."

Mathew Cherian, a calm, honest and humble man is truly an inspiration for all. He left me with much to dwell upon.

Remembering Hurricane

A thinker, a believer & a leader, Late P.L. Roy more popularly known as 'Hurricane', departed from this world leaving the HelpAge family with fond memories and a deep sense of loss.

Hurricane was introduced to the HelpAge family by Mr. M.M. Sabharwal, President Emeritus, HelpAge India, who brought him onto the HelpAge Governing Board. From his schooling in Doon School, Dehradun, to his graduation from Emmanuel College, University of Cambridge (UK) the road for Hurricane was chartered well for the corporate sector. He went on to hold leading posts in the sector from being the Sales Director at Metal Box Co. India to the Managing Director of Alfred Herbert & GEC.

A charismatic man, always willing to think out-of-the-box, Hurricane true to his name wanted to bring about change in society and help those who couldn't help themselves. His meeting with Sabharwal seemed destined to fulfill that very intrinsic need in him and he became a major motivator in HelpAge's drive to help the disadvantaged elderly.

Quick-witted and always with a smile on his face, he had a great sense of humor.

He made a conscious effort to know the members of the HelpAge family at all levels, their ideas on bringing about a positive change in the lives of the elderly in their regions, the ground reality, hiccups they faced in their endeavor and their vast knowledge of elder needs. His visit to the Tamaraikulam Elders Village in Cuddalore (TN) and Kalyan Ashram (Kolkata) are still remembered with great fondness by the elders residing there and staff members.

He believed in the power of communication and its strength to empower the cause of those disadvantaged and left a lasting impression wherever he went.

He will be deeply missed.

HEALTHCARE

Health on Wheels

As we grow older, the need to take care of our health becomes more and more important to lead healthier and happier lives. Some are fortunate to have the resources to take care of themselves in later years, but many like 70 year old Subal have nowhere to turn too. It is for elders like him who cannot afford or access basic healthcare, HelpAge's Mobile Medicare Units (MMUs) provide free and basic healthcare services. Currently, HelpAge has 75 MMUs operating across the country providing Allopathic and Ayurvedic treatment to elders like him.

70 plus Subal Prasad of Jharkhand, worked as a laborer in an explosive factory for most of his life, till in 1995 the factory was shut down due to heavy losses, forcing Subal along with other workers to opt for voluntary retirement. Soon ill-health and weakness started taking its toll on him. Dependent on his son, with no job in hand and a deteriorating medical condition, the next 6 years for Subal were hard. He tried the local Public Health Centre (PHC) but the medicines did not suit him and the irregular attendance of the staff in the PHC made matters worse. For major treatments, there was no other option but to go to nearby towns which were 60 to 120 kms further from the village. Subal could barely walk.

In October 2011, he heard of HelpAge's MMU operations nearby and approached it with hope. After a detailed examination by the MMU doctor, he was diagnosed with a severe case of diabetes with his sugar levels sky rocketing. Treatment began immediately and soon Subal started responding to it. His Sugar level came down and he started feeling stronger.

Today, he walks confidently to the MMU location. A regular patient of this ONGC supported MMU programme titled "Varishthjana Swasthya Sewa Abhiyan" he feels happy, independent and has found a new friend in MMU doctor Dr. Gajendra Prasad Singh.

SOCIAL PROTECTION

Elder Helpline

Loneliness, abuse, lack of awareness on rights of elders, are some of the reasons why elders call the HelpAge Elder Helplines spread across the country in 22 locations. Over the years the need for these Helplines has increased immensely. Sometimes the elders just need someone to talk to, which highlights the grave problem of loneliness among seniors in our country. Property disputes and harassment are another major area where elders need help and legal guidance on how to tackle the problem. These Helplines also serve as a contact point for people who want to help and often call when they find an abandoned elderly on the streets. The HelpAge Helpline teams provide these elders with shelter and care. In the forthcoming years more Elder Helplines will be set up to help more such disadvantaged elders.

65 plus Ramchandran was found in the compounds of Lucknow's famous Gautam Buddha Park, shriveled up and in tattered clothing, trying to protect himself from the incessant rain. He couldn't walk. After receiving a call from a Good Samaritan, Ms. Rashmi Mishra, from the HelpAge Lucknow Elder helpline rushed to the spot to his aid and called for the Lucknow Mobile Medicare Unit (MMU). Ramchandran was given some immediate medication, then taken to the nearby Trauma Centre, from where he was then referred to the nearby Mental Hospital. HelpAge lodged an FIR with the local Police hoping to track his family down but to no avail, as all information given by Ramchandran was about a life and family that didn't exist. He had lost his memory. The HelpAge team then bought him some clothes and took him to the Missionaries of Charity, 'Prem Niwas' - Home for the Dying Destitute. Today, Ramchandran might not remember his past, but he's found new friends, a new home and a place to call his own.

Assistive devices for elders

Mr. J.C. Luther, Governing Body Member, HelpAge India, makes use of the newly launched Wheel Chair Service for senior citizen's at Plaza Market Sector-17, Chandigarh. A first of its kind initiative by HelpAge for the elderly.

Physiocare

Physiocare is essential with increasing age in order to remain healthy and independent. HelpAge has throughout the country opened Physiocare Centres through its Agecare facilities.

It is a rare sight to catch a person over 60 sweating it out at a Gym with all its modern equipments. An elderly woman works out hard at the Elder Gym – Fitness & Wellness Centre at Lions Club Senior Citizen Home Campus, Amrapalli, Chunabhatti in Bhopal (MP), HelpAge's Agecare facility in Bhopal. This Agecare facility not only provides fitness options but also physiocare services for the elderly as well.

SOCIAL PROTECTION

Self Sustainability

Shelter & Care-giving

The Power of a fistful of Grain

An elderly woman contributes two fistfuls of Jowar, to start-up a Community Based Grain Bank in debt ridden Vidarbha Region (Maharashtra), while Mr. Rajeshwar Devarakonda (second from right), Head (Social Protection & Emergencies), HelpAge India, looks on.

More than 30,000 farmers committed suicide in Maharashtra in the last decade, of which more than 70% farmers belong to the Vidarbha region, also known as the farmer suicide belt. Most of these farmers were steeped in debt. The elderly being even more vulnerable.

HelpAge India found a unique way to address this problem leaning on the age-old tradition of Dev Dhan in which the first portion of the harvested crop is given away as "thanksgiving" to the presiding deity of the village. In the event of an emergency in the village or a family facing mishap, the Dev Dhan is then utilized and returned the next harvest with interest.

Inspired by this concept, HelpAge India along with the help of local Elder Self Help Groups (ESHG), initiated a Grain Bank system.

To begin with, the ESHG members brought in two fistfuls of grain from home, which they then added to a common pool of Grain. After harvest, the group on a chosen day contribute to this Grain Bank which serves as a reserve to be used in the time of emergency. HelpAge then added a matching contribution to this, in the first year, as a mark of solidity to augment the programme further. Furthermore, HelpAge sources the grain from the local ESHG at the prevailing market rate, thus helping the local economy too.

37 ESHGs including 372 members, have now been established in 10 villages in two blocks of Jhari and Kelpur in Yavatmal District, making the elders self reliant and self-sufficient.

With each passing year the need for composite shelters and care giving facilities is on the rise. Old Age Homes and Day Care Centres are becoming essential and there is an increasing requirement for them. HelpAge supports these in different ways. Elders, who have no roof over their heads and have nowhere to go, find not only a home in these shelters but also a life away from abuse and destitution. For the urban well-to-do elders, pay and stay home are an answer for a life away from the constant payment of bills, property management, threat of crime and a place which is age-friendly where they can unwind with like minded peers.

On the other hand, to take care of the needs of elders, care-giving training has become an intrinsic part of the HelpAge programme module, where special training is given to care-givers to take care of elders. Not to be mixed with domestic help, these care-givers are trained solely to look after elder needs.

A life she tries to remember

She runs her wrinkled hands over the old photograph again and again as if the sheer feeling of touch would transport her back into time, a time she tries hard to remember with each passing day.

80 plus Promilla Singh lived a very rich and fulfilling life. A fiery youngster, she wanted to pursue her dream of becoming a tennis champion and she did. She went on to play at the National level much against her mother's protests.

"Girls just didn't play sports during my time. I remember I would come back home with torn clothes after a good game, much to my mother's despair," she said.

Her memories of her husband come in bits and pieces. When asked, she breaks into a shy smile and said, "My husband told me that - the first day I met you I knew I would marry you." She was 25 then and it was love at first sight for both.

Originally from Delhi, she came to Bangalore few years ago and has been staying since then at an old age home, where HelpAge had conducted a care-giving training programme.

Her children were leading independent lives, leaving her with no one to lean on after her husband's death. Walking had become difficult and simple tasks like bathing, dressing and bending were a pain for her. She needed a home, she needed a carer.

But that wasn't the only problem Promilla seemed to be facing, she was losing her memory as well. At first it seemed like a natural process of memory loss, but soon the irregularities start appearing in her story. "I went with my husband to Spain 6 years ago" she smiles and in the very next moment she would add, "My husband died 7 years ago you know. I am going to Delhi soon, I have a home there."

The old photograph is probably the only solid proof of her earlier life, for now Dementia has taken its toll.

Care-giver, Shweta, 24 years, trained by HelpAge India says, "Promillaji is very moody at times and sometimes it becomes difficult to handle her but I am happy to be here and help. I look after her from her bathing to dressing, to helping her walk, among other things. It also provides me with a source of income. Sometimes all it takes is a bit of patience."

Support a Gran

HelpAge believes that each elder has the right to basic food, water and shelter, without resorting to begging or being dependent. A right to a dignified life. It is to fulfill this very need that it runs the Support a Gran programme, which covers the basic needs of primarily destitute elders. In 2011-12, HelpAge reached out to 36,042 elders across 23 states under this programme.

Beating the odds an Unbeatable spirit

80 plus Kewal from Beri village (Rohtak), Haryana, was an earnest vegetable vendor, through which most villagers ran their household. One day his fingers got amputated under a mustard oil refinery machine, but that didn't deter his smiling spirit.

A widower, with no family to support him, Kewal was then enrolled into HelpAge India's Support a Gran programme, through which his basic needs were met. Today, he leads a happy and secure life and a ready smile lines his wrinkled face.

Community based Elder care

The Elder for Elders initiative by HelpAge India is slowly moving forward. Through the Community based Palliative Care project at Nagapattinam (TN), the Nagapattinam District Palliative Care Felici-tation Centre has opened at the District Hospital which provides counseling, guidance and treatment for elderly who require Palliative Care.

The centre is guiding at least 200 elders through its helpdesk every day, with the aim to provide maximum help to the elderly, through legal awareness, counseling, emergency care & much more.

A separate counter for elders in the Nagapattinam District Hospital where elderly patients seek help from the Palliative Care Nurse.

Palliative Care

AdvantAge Elders

In line with its objective of propagating the concept of 'Active Ageing', HelpAge India now offers a facility that will encourage an independent way of living for senior citizens within limited means. It is addressing the needs of those 50 plus citizens that are facing the prospect of dwindling incomes as they approach retirement or are already retired, through its AdvantAge Card programme. Through this, it provides its card holders access to specially discounted prices on consumer goods, leisure products and services, super markets goods, travel portals, travel services, hospital and clinic services, pharmaceutical products, diagnostic labs, physiotherapy facilities etc. Currently there are over 450 Associates in over 35 towns and cities.

The uniqueness of this Card Programme lies in its ability to function as an enabler at many levels. At the core of the programme is the website www.helpageadvantage.org which in addition to helping members search online for discounts offered by category of goods, services and cities, also effectively becomes a common 'meeting ground' for members, enabling:

- Social networking through the website: The website will soon offer members the facility to write blogs where they can express their views and invite comments from other members. This will enable them to form communities of like minded elders and give them a sense of belonging.
- Volunteering for a sense of purpose: Senior citizens acquire a lifetime of experience and expertise. They can volunteer to share their skills with other members or their families. This will provide the volunteer members a sense of purpose, a new meaning to life post retirement.
- Advocacy for elder issues: In using the website to voice their concerns on issues affecting senior citizens, members will discover the power of their voice. Such a platform will enable HelpAge to incorporate and reflect member opinions in its advocacy efforts.

ADVOCACY

Many elderly in India are silent sufferers simply because they aren't aware of their rights. Lack of awareness and advocacy, are major reasons for this. HelpAge has been working over the past few years advocating for the cause of elders in various areas, whether it be for prevention of Elder Abuse, implementation for the National Policy of Older Person or access to basic rights and entitlements.

60 plus Sima Sadhukhan, came to HelpAge's Kolkata office one morning accompanied by her 55 year old neighbour Jagadish Ram in November 2011 to ask for help in filing a case against her stepsons. Sima was her late husband's second wife. After his death, she had barely time to grieve, when the harassment began.

Her stepsons despite having homes of their own, wanted to oust her out of her home. It first started with verbal abuse, then mental torture and finally reached the point of physical threats. Soon she was forced to live in just one room. At times she was even locked out of her home. Subsequently, a portion of the property was sold without her consent or signature.

It had been 5 years of constant suffering for Sima. With no source of regular income or any other support, even a basic meal for Sima seemed unaffordable. Her only income being an interest of Rs. 2000 per month from a post office fixed deposit.

Ram found her in this state and decided to fight for her. He went to court but justice was taking too long and they did not have anymore financial strength to carry on litigation. They then had heard about the Maintenance and Welfare of Parents and Senior Citizens Act (2007), but had no idea how to proceed. They went from pillar to post but no one was willing to help.

It was then he brought her to HelpAge, and Ms. Anuradha Sen, Deputy Director-Advocacy (East) along with other staff members, helped submit the Maintenance application form at the SDO Barrackpore (WB) and a case was registered & filed. Soon Sima's children received a Notice from the SDO intimating the date of hearing.

HelpAge ensured she received police protection during the duration of the case and assisted the Tribunal. Finally the Tribunal passed an order stating that both children should pay a certain amount to her every month by money order.

Today, Sima is secure and is an inspiration to others who like her have been silent sufferers.

Sima Sadhukhan proudly holds a copy of the Magistrate's Order directing her 2 sons to pay Maintenance.

Creating Awareness about Elder Abuse

Elder Abuse is a social evil which is a reality in India. In order to better understand the underlying reasons and consequences of this grave issue, HelpAge conducted a research study which was released nationwide on the eve of 'World Elder Abuse Awareness Day' (June 14). HelpAge released a 9 city report on 'Elder Abuse & Crime in India', which covered: Delhi NCR, Mumbai, Hyderabad, Kolkata, Patna, Chennai, Bhopal, Ahmedabad & Bangalore.

The study was conducted among lower income group individuals with a sample size of 100 elderly per city (50 men & 50 women). These were compared with year 2010 findings of higher income group individuals primarily, to compare the prevalence of Abuse among different socio-economic strata of society.

Events held across nearly 30 towns & cities sought to raise awareness on the issue. Signature campaigns, rallies, walkathons, debates etc. were organized urging people to support the 'Fight Against Elder Abuse'.

REPORT FINDINGS (Highlights):

- Nationwide family members turn out to be the highest abusers of the elderly.
- Nationally daughter-in-law emerged as the major abuser of the elderly (63.4%), followed by the son (44%) from the lower socio-economic strata, as against the son (53.6%) who was the primary abuser in the higher socio-economic strata as per the 2010 findings.
- More than one fifth of the elderly (22%) experienced Abuse. While Bangalore tops Elder Abuse cases with a shocking 44%, it is closely followed by Hyderabad (38%), Bhopal (30%) and Kolkata (23%), the lowest being Chennai (2%).

- About 72% of the elderly stay with their sons.
- 66% of the elderly are financially dependent on someone. Majority (85%) of the elderly reported financial dependence for medical expenditure being the highest (78%).

- Three fifth of the elderly reported change in cultural values (57%) and lack of economic resources among elderly (56%) as reasons for feeling increase in incidence of Elder Abuse in the past 3 years.
- 19% of India's elderly feel neglected. Reasons such as 'family members are busy in their own lives/work', 'family members don't really interact with them' were voiced.
- Verbal abuse of elderly was highest in Delhi NCR, Mumbai, Hyderabad & Chennai reaching 100%. Physical Abuse was highest in Patna (71%) and lowest in Ahmedabad.
- Half of the elderly reported facing abuse because of lack of emotional support.
- The top four measures to control crime suggested by the elderly were: 'Inform the Police about the crime', 'Contact counselors to help deal with the crime', 'Procedure for legal aid should be simple and effective' and 'Contact Senior Citizen's Association/RWA for help and guidance'.

CORPORATE CARING

Corporate Support 2011 -12

- 18 Corporates supported 43 MMUs. • 4 Corporates funded 569 surgeries. • 13 Corporates supported the cause in general.

Each year corporates, individuals, institutions, trusts and foundations humble us with their magnanimity and kindness. In a fast paced world of cut-throat competition they take out time and funds, to think about the less fortunate elders of our country. They give us hope that there is still sensitivity and generosity left in this competitive environment. HelpAge salutes their spirit and hopes they continue holding its hands throughout this journey, to create a better and dignified life for the disadvantaged elderly.

Dr. H.P. Kumar, Chairman & Managing Director, NSIC, inaugurates the new MMU donated by NSIC with the auspicious breaking of the coconut. Looking on are Mr. Mathew Cherian, Chief Executive, HelpAge India, along with other members of NSIC and HelpAge.

National Small Industries Corporation Ltd. "NSIC is privileged to be a part of the invaluable services rendered by HelpAge India for the needy and destitute elderly and it would continue to keep up its commitment towards the welfare and upliftment of the underprivileged," says Dr. H.P. Kumar, Chairman & Managing Director, NSIC.

HelpAge India Excellence Award

A leader, a catalyst and a change-maker, are words that define Mrs. Grace Pinto, Managing Director (MD), Ryan International Group of Institutions, the best. A long standing supporter of the cause she has been associated with HelpAge since 2000. Her schools (Ryan Group of Institutions) regularly fundraise supporting HelpAge services in aid of the elderly.

It was on her insistence and drive, that Grand Parents Day is celebrated by the students of her schools. The children visit elderly who reside in old age homes, spend time with them, play games and share stories filled with moments of fun and laughter. Elders are invited to celebrate Christmas in her schools and the students actively support the Support a Gran programme.

Pinto is a true philanthropist whose dedication and commitment to help the less privileged in society stands apart. She is a leader, who has guided more than a hundred schools and lakhs of children all across the country and thus has been a recipient of many national and international Awards. She has, time and again, encouraged students of her schools to actively participate in campaigns to raise awareness about elder issues.

Through her unstinted support, HelpAge India has received generous contributions alongwith implementation of its Student Action for Value Education programme in her schools.

HelpAge cherishes its association with Mrs. Pinto and honored her on 'International Day of Older Persons' 2011, with the 'Excellence Award' presented by Mr. Mukul Wasnik, Minister for Social Justice and Empowerment (Govt. of India). HelpAge is also thankful for the continued support of her husband, Dr. Augustine F. Pinto, Chairman of the Group, who has been her source of inspiration.

103 year old Gauranga Das, was found lying curled up in a shed of a Tailors shop near the Bhubaneswar Railway Station Gate. He didn't remember his family, as he left them in childhood. With no food, water, clothes or a roof over his head, he resorted to begging. HelpAge Elder Helpline in Bhubaneswar (Odisha) helped provide him shelter, food, clothing and a life away from the streets.
